History 247: FURTHER READING

INTRODUCTION: THINKING HISTORICALLY, THINKING ENVIRONMENTALLY

OVERVIEW: THE LAND OF NORUMBEGA

COMMUNITY HISTORY

THE FIRST TRAVELER’S TALE: CHRISTOPHER LEVETT’S VOYAGE
Further readings on landscape representation:

THE COAST: THE EARLIEST SETTLEMENTS
Leon F. Cranmer, Cushnoc: The History and Archaeology of Plymouth Colony Traders on the Kennebec Occ. Publs. in Me. Arch. 7 (1990)

THE ENCOUNTER IN MAINE AND NORTHERN NEW ENGLAND

MAINE IN THE EARLY REPUBLIC: THE “NORTHEASTERN” FRONTIER
Lloyd C. Irland, “Rufus Putnam’s Ghost: An Essay on Maine’s Public Lands, 1783-1820,”
Rural Life in the Nineteenth Century

Film, Sins of our Mothers: the Story of Emeline 58 minutes (1988)

Further reading on research design and methodology:

The Maine Woods

Farming on the Maine Coast

Seafaring Communities on the Maine Coast

Sarah Orne Jewett, “At the Schoolhouse Window,” “Captain Littlepage,” “The Waiting Place,” “The Outer Island,” “Alongshore [Elijah Tilley]” from The Country of the Pointed Firs (1886)

Deep-Sea Fisheries and Lobster Fishing

Edward M. Holmes, “Vinalhaven Lobstermen’s Cooperative, 1938,” Maine Historical
COASTAL AND ISLAND ECONOMIES
Further reading on Harpswell and Orr’s Island:
W.H. Doughty, Historical Sketch of Orr’s Island, With Landscape Descriptions (Portland, 1899)
Annie Haven Thwing, The Story of Orr’s Island Maine (Boston, 1925)
Harriet Beecher Stowe, The Pearl of Orr’s Island (1862)

INDUSTRIALIZATION AND IMMIGRATION: THE FRENCH-CANADIAN MIGRATION TO THE MILLS AND THE GROWTH OF MILL COMMUNITIES
Katherine Hoving, “You Speak Very Good English for a Swede”: Language, Culture, and Persistence in Maine’s Swedish Colony,” Maine History 40.3 (Fall 2001), 219-244.

TOURISM, THE WILDERNESS, AND WILDERNESS PRESERVATION AND CONSERVATION
Earliest Maine films: Five silent films (1901-1920): logging, trout fishing, lobster industry, potatoes, canoes and canoeing. 44 minutes.
Earliest Maine films: Five silent films (1901-1920): logging, trout fishing, lobster industry, potatoes, canoes and canoeing. 44 minutes.

CONSERVATION AND PUBLIC POLICY

SEAFARING COMMUNITIES ON THE MAINE COAST
The Fourth Traveler’s Tale:

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

