What is New this Year?

No early arrivals permitted in Coles Tower and Stowe Hall fall semester 2022. Construction in Coles Tower and the GCS Summer Institute in Stowe Hall necessitate this restriction. If you need to return early and choose to live in one of these locations, you will need to find a friend to stay with on campus until your building is open.

What is the Lottery?

Each spring, enrolled seniors,<sup>1</sup> juniors, and sophomores choose housing for the upcoming academic year by participating in the annual housing lottery. College housing for the fall 2022 semester will be assigned as outlined in this document.

The process consists of three different roommate group deadlines and their corresponding lotteries. Once you select and confirm housing, you are ineligible for upcoming lottery rounds.

When students submit roommate groups for a lottery round, their group is eligible for the lottery round of the person with the lowest eligibility in their group. Each roommate group, regardless of size, will only receive one timeslot. Once the group's timeslot is reached, they can select housing right away or reconfigure their group until they make a housing selection or the round closes. If a group does not select housing during their initial round, they should create a new group or reconfigure their roommate group for the next round.

Eligibility

To be eligible for the lottery, Polaris must show that you are enrolled and will be on campus for the fall 2022 semester as of April 4, 2022. If you have questions about your enrollment status, please contact your Dean at 207-725-3149.

You are NOT eligible for the Housing Lottery if:

- You were released to live off campus next year via the off-campus lottery,
- Your fall 2022 status in Polaris indicates you are studying away, on leave, etc., or
- You are currently on a leave of absence that requires you participate in the re-enrollment process in June.

If your off-campus study or off-campus housing plans change, the Residential Life Office will attempt to assign you housing during the summer comparable to your classmates as space permits. If you have questions, contact Lisa Rendall, Director of Residential and Housing Operations, at 207-725-3589.

Housing Terms

- Roommate Group: To be eligible for the lottery, every student must belong to a roommate group whether it is a group of 1 or 8. Students who are not in a roommate group will NOT be assigned a timeslot for room selection.
- Suite: Includes a common room and bedrooms. Some suites include private bathrooms.
- Apartment: Includes a kitchen, bathroom and common room in addition to bedroom(s).
- Substance-Free Residence: There is no alcohol consumption or smoking of any kind in the common and private areas of the residence.

Substance-Free Housing

There is no alcohol consumption or smoking of any kind in the common and private areas of the residence. Excessive noise and disorderly conduct in these residences resulting from substance use outside of the residence will not be tolerated and will be considered grounds for reassignment when brought to the attention of the Residential Life Office. By choosing a space in substance-free housing, students agree to comply with building expectations. Substance-free housing will be available for selection during all lottery rounds. Sub-Free locations for upperclass students are:

- Howell House -- Offered through the College House selection process.
- Howard Hall -- 4-person and 5-person suites. Students may only choose Howard as a roommate group of four or five.
- Mayflower Apartments -- 2-person and 3-person apartments.
- Park Row Apartments, Building 4 -- One building in the Park Row complex is designated substance-free and comprises of two 4-person, one 6-person and one 8-person apartments.
- Smith House -- 1-person rooms and one 2-person room.
- 52 Harpswell Road -- 1- and 2-person rooms and one 4-person room.

Be advised that any violations to the substance-free policy that come to the attention of Residential Life could result in reassignment to another space on campus.

Residence Requirement

Students are required to live in college housing during their first two years at Bowdoin. Juniors and seniors wishing to live off campus are required to enter the Off-Campus Housing Lottery to receive approval to live in off-campus housing. Students required to live in college housing who do not participate in the on-campus lottery will be assigned a space in early August based on space availability.

Roommate Groups

- Create roommate groups in the Bricks and Beyond housing portal: <https://housing.bowdoin.edu>
- Talk with others in your group EARLY to find out their round eligibility. Avoid surprises about being ineligible for a round because a member of your group isn't eligible.
- You must create a Roommate Group to select a room (even if you are a "group" of one).
- All members in a Roommate Group must have accepted the request to join the group. Any pending members of the group will not be eligible for room selection.
- Each eligible roommate group will receive a "timeslot" which is their allotted time for their group leader to login to Bricks and Beyond and select a room. Be sure your leader will be available and have internet access during the lottery time period. The leader can transfer leadership to another group member before the deadline if needed.
- After your timeslot is reached, your Roommate Group may reconfigure into multiple smaller groups or merge with other group(s) so you are the correct group size to select available housing.
  - Note: If you plan to reconfigure your Roommate Group, all members of the Group must be available to accept invites to new groups, create new groups, etc.
- Once you (or your group) select housing in your round, you are ineligible for upcoming lotteries.
- If you do not choose housing during your first lottery round, you need to reconfigure and create a new roommate group(s) to participate in the next lottery round.

Mixed Class Year/Class Standing Roommate Groups

Students who wish to live together but are from different class years can do so. Mixed point groups are eligible for the lottery round of the group member with the lowest point. Within their eligible lottery round, the groups' points will be averaged and those groups will almost always have a timeslot earlier than same class year groups within the round. For example, a mixed group of juniors and seniors will be eligible for Round 2. When their points are averaged, they will have a timeslot before the all-junior groups in Round 2.

A Working Example of the Lottery in Progress

- Login to Bricks and Beyond (requires Duo sign-in) and create a roommate group. Be sure everyone accepts.
- Confirm your roommate group leader will be available during room selection night. If not, transfer leadership to another member of the group before the roommate group submission deadline for your round.
  - Note: If you plan to reconfigure your Roommate Group during the lottery, all members of the group must be available to accept invites to new groups, create new groups, etc.
- Need another roommate? Looking for someone going abroad in the spring? Search for a roommate using the mandatory profile criteria or other search options.
- Your group is finalized when everyone invited has accepted and there are no pending requests.
- When you receive your group's timeslot, have a final chat about where you want to live and designate members of the group to watch the lottery webpage. This webpage will show available rooms and is updated every 10 minutes.

- Each round will have all room configurations available. When it is your group leader's turn to select, they will only see available rooms that match your group size. A group of 5 will only see available 5-person rooms in Stowe Hall and Howard Hall. A group of 6 will only see available 6-person apartments in Harpswell and Park Row. And so on.
- If your group doesn't like their options, they can reconfigure at any point between when your timeslot begins and the lottery closes to see different sized available rooms. A group of 8 can split into two groups of 4 and select quads near each other, two groups of 1 can join together to select a double together, etc.
- Your group leader will select a building, a room/suite/apartment within that building and then assign each member of the group to a bed. If they change their mind, they can "go back" and look at a different building until they are ready to commit to a room.
- Once that selection is confirmed, your roommate group has housing next fall! You're all done. No "give backs" once the room is confirmed.
- Keep in mind that there are roommate groups behind you whose timeslots may be reached while you are still making your housing decision. The sooner your group leader finalizes their choice, the more options there will be to choose from. The selection will be held in the "cart" for ten minutes. If not finalized after ten minutes, the room will be released for others to select and your group will need to select a new room.

Things to Consider

- Who do you want to live with?
- Do they want to live with you?
- Have you asked them yet?
- Are they neat and you are messy? Are you sure that will work?
- What about the group? Will they stay up all night partying but you need to go to bed early due to practice?
- Are you sure living with that group will work?
- Remember, great friends do not always make great roommates.
- What have you learned about yourself and your housing needs in the past year(s)?

Talking honestly now will help you avoid stress and conflicts later. Be sure to discuss lifestyles, habits, and expectations plainly before agreeing to room with someone. Don't assume anything; ask them!

Roommate Matching

Many students find themselves without a roommate when their friends decide to live with others, move off-campus, or study away. If you are in this situation, 1) attend the "Find a Roommate" event on Thursday, April 7 4:30-5:30pm, 2) talk to your Proctor as they may know others with the same dilemma, or 3) search the "mandatory profiles" in the online lottery for someone with similar habits who is also looking for a roommate (available after April 8). If you need more help, contact the Office of Residential Life.

Housing Changes after the Lottery

There are three ways to seek alternate housing:

1. After all lotteries are complete, talk with or e-mail Lisa Rendall, Director of Residential and Housing Operations and request a change if space permits. Although there are no guarantees, spaces may become available over the summer. Once classes begin, you'll need to seek a change through the other two options.
2. The Residential Life Office allows upperclass students to swap rooms during the first two weeks of classes each semester. The swap must be mutually agreed upon by all students living within the suite(s)/apartment(s) involved in the swap.
3. Any upperclass student may make an appointment with Lisa Rendall to discuss available open rooms and request to be reassigned.

Off-Campus Study

Abroad fall semester only: You do not participate in the Housing Lottery, and you do not need to find someone to swap with who is going abroad in the spring. Your Study Abroad Form will be used as your request for spring semester housing. You may update this form through November 1. Typically, students are assigned to one of their top three choices. Sometimes students with opposite study away plans (fall v. spring) plan to swap rooms. Please indicate this proposed plan on your Study Abroad Form. The Office of Residential Life will do its best to accommodate these requests, but there is no guarantee the specific assignment can be made. Spring housing assignments are made in early December and posted to the Bricks and Beyond housing portal.

Abroad all year or only spring semester: You may participate in the lottery process in April on-line. Before you leave the country, please be sure you have set up your Duo Sign-In to use abroad so you can access the site.

Your Lottery Application Form Becomes Your Residence Agreement

Your lottery application form is also your Residence Agreement. By submitting the lottery application form you agree to abide by all Bowdoin rules and regulations. This agreement includes all rules and regulations in the most recent edition of the Code of Community Standards, Residential Life Opening and Closing Notices, Break Notices, Break Housing Applications, the annual Housing Lottery Guide, on-line housing information, and any other Residential Life notices.

The Residence Agreement becomes binding when you take occupancy of college housing during the 2022-2023 academic year.

Additional Circumstances

Accessibility. The Director of Residential Life will defer to ADA accommodation decisions made by the Director of Student Accessibility and make housing accommodations accordingly.
